during the Statistical Science Graduation Reception 12:00 ~ 3:00pm

Von Canon Room A/Bryan Center, Duke University

The BEST Award simultaneously recognizes the importance and impact of Bayesian methodology in research in modern finance and investment management, and the importance of active applied research experiences in undergraduate and graduate student education. Duke students – undergraduate and graduate – registered on a degree program in the Department of Statistical Science compete for the award on the basis of a paper representing original research. The Award was established by the BEST Foundation in 2007.
